8. Hi Julia,

I thought about your party next Saturday and I have some ideas so that your party will be a big hit!

First, you should definitely write invitations. And you should also make an invitation list, so that you don't forget to invite any of your friends! You should also make sure that you have everything a good party needs: You should have cool music, you should have good food and something to drink and you should have some party games, they are always great fun. What you should not have are your parents and your little brother in the house! They should go to the cinema meanwhile! I'm already excited and looking forward to your party!

Bye

Andy
