

The background is a colorful illustration of a savanna landscape. In the foreground, a large green crocodile with yellow spots is lying on a sandy bank next to a river. To the left, a stork with a red head and black and white body stands on a rock, holding a small brown object in its beak. The middle ground features a winding river, some reeds, and a few scattered trees. In the background, there are rolling hills and a large, leafy tree on the right. The sky is filled with soft, colorful clouds in shades of pink, orange, and blue.

 Edition
NILPFERD

Foreign Rights
Autumn 2022

JENS RASMUS
PIZZA vom SÜDPOL
13 hungrige Geschichten

Edition
NILPFERD

Penguin is delivering pizza to the North Pole, the little people only need one pea for their stew, the bears are feeding each other berries, and the bookworms love nothing more than devouring books ... Why do you write so many stories about food, Jens Rasmus?

"Well, food is such an interesting topic, isn't it? We spend so much time on it, and a large part of our socialising revolves around food and eating together. I had been thinking of writing a book of food stories for so long. I actually started it a few years ago.

The first story I wrote was about a family of octopuses who tie themselves in knots eating raclette I liked it so much that instead of writing more food stories, I wrote more fish stories. They all became 'A Band-Aid for the Grouper'. Recently, I returned to my original food story idea, and I am over the moon that a book has come out of it."

The night animal
All rights available

Pizza from the South Pole

13 hungry stories

The crocodile has filled his tummy for the rest of the year when lots of cards drop through the letterbox – dinner invitations. What should he do? He doesn't want to be rude ... An animal cook group has problems with portion sizes, the polar bear family is waiting impatiently for their pizza from the South Pole and the Alphabet kids are having alphabet soup for tea. Yes, you read that right!

Jens Rasmus is the master of the quandary: quirky, funny, philosophical. In 13 new read-aloud stories about food, he contemplates the impossible, perfectly complemented with his adorable pictures. A feast for the eyes and read-aloud fun for the whole family.

Jens Rasmus was born in 1967 in Kiel and lives in Hamburg. He studied Illustration in Hamburg and in Dundee, Scotland. Since 1996 he has been a freelance illustrator and author and has published several picture- and children's books. He is a magician in illustrating the mood of lights.

Picture book
5+

- Cooking show, alphabet soup, dinner invitation, delivery service ...
- Side-splittingly funny: Jens Rasmus tells stories with wit and imagination
- 13 read-aloud stories about food

Jens Rasmus
Pizza from the South Pole
13 hungry stories

64 pages

All rights available

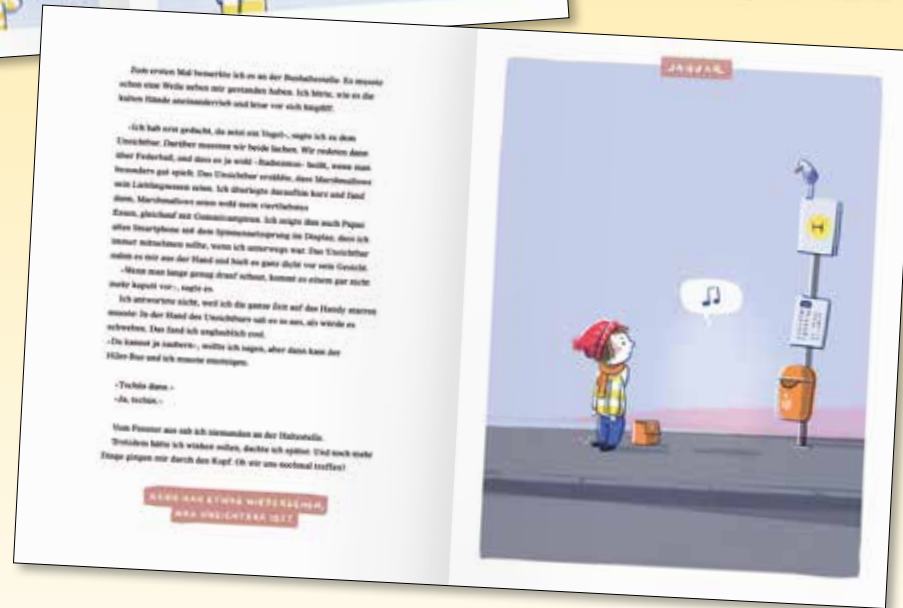

The little invisible

At the bus stop, Lilli meets the little invisible. She almost misses it, but the two soon become best friends. They experience a magical summer together, full of small joys and one big question: being invisible and being ignored – is that the same thing? What is the difference between seeing and not seeing? When autumn comes, Lilli invites the little invisible to her home. But her parents don't want to have anything to do with him ...

Melancholically beautiful, enchanting, funny! A particularly warm-hearted and moving picture book story that raises a host of questions.

»Sometimes, I think,
I'm not really invisible.
People just choose not to see me.»
«Isn't that the same thing?»
«I used to think so too ...»

Tip

Is this the back of the line?
All rights available

Troisdorf
Picture Book
Award
3rd place

Lena Hesse is a trained print media designer and studied design in Münster and Valencia. She lives in Berlin and works for publishing houses and advertising agencies as a freelance illustrator and author for. Her stories and images are full of amusing details, sparkling with charm and and enigmatic ideas.

Picture book
4+

- Spend a year with an invisible friend
- So many questions – philosophical and moving

Lena Hesse
The little invisible
32 pages
All rights available

All rights available

The Mouse Treasure – The big book for little mice

These mice have what it takes: hunting for treasure on Pirate Island, in the fight against the evil cat who has kidnapped the mouse princess, setting off into unknown lands, and in search for the desert flower – these tiny heroes always make a big impression!

Erwin Moser’s mice are ingenious and courageous. A book packed with exciting stories about Manuel and Didi, Lilli Weisswieschnee and many other favourites. A beautifully designed collection with 6 stories to read aloud and lots of pictures for big mice and little mice alike.

Highlights

An-bear-able fun!
All rights available

You can dream now sweetly
All rights available

Erwin Moser, born in 1954 in Vienna. Over the last thirty years he has published countless picture books and children’s stories, many winning acclaim including the shortlist for the German Children’s Literature Award. In 2013 he was awarded the Golden Decoration of Honour from the State of Vienna. Erwin Moser died on October 13, 2017 in Vienna.

Picture book
3+

- The great new collection from Erwin Moser
- Mousey adventures and thrilling illustrations
- Read-aloud stories for the whole family

Erwin Moser
The Mouse Treasure
The big book for little mice
112 pages
All rights available

A Christmas tree for Robin

The little bear and his friends are preparing a cosy Christmas, with a beautiful Christmas tree and Christmas treats. Robin, watching through the window, wants to experience the magic of Christmas for himself. And in the forest, he finds it – when he spots the Christmas star shining above a crooked, glittering, snow-covered tree.

Antonie Schneider's new, tender, poetic story warms the heart, while Jana Walczyk's illustrations bring Christmas to life.

Tip

Christmas is for everyone
All rights available

Little Bear and the Christmas Star
All rights available

Antonie Schneider was born in Allgäu in 1954 and has published countless children's books, many of which have won international awards. She is famous for her delightful style, keen ear and subtle tones. She now lives back in Allgäu, in an old house with many stories and books, both imagined and true.

Jana Walczyk was born in Bramsche near Osnabrück in 1989 and studied design in Münster and Hamburg, doing her master's in illustration. She is a freelance illustrator, author and graphic designer and produces book and editorial illustrations.

- Deeply moving: The heartfelt longing for a magical Christmas
- The robin finds a way to make his dreams come true
- A new, cosy Christmas book by a popular duo

Antonie Schneider, Jana Walczyk
A Christmas tree for Robin

32 pages

All rights available

Picture book
3+

Mr. Fox loves Christmas

Mr Fox, the famous writer, travels to the North Pole and there accidentally eats all of the children's letters to Santa Claus (with cinnamon and sugar, so Christmassy). But how will Santa know which presents to bring the children? Fortunately, good advice is not far away, when Mr Fox gets creative!

Pre-Christmas reading fun with the popular book-eater, complete with reindeer, Santa's sauna, mountains of Christmas post, and the big question: Can Mr. Fox save Christmas (after he has put it in danger)?

Picture book
5+

A new Adventure!

Mr Fox loves books

Troisdorf
Picture Book
Award
2nd place

Franziska Biermann studied at Hamburg University of Design. As author and illustrator, she lives in Hamburg, where she works on her brilliant, funny and successful book and film projects. Mr. Fox loves books won 2nd place in the Troisdorf Picture Book Awards

- Mr Fox needs to save Christmas
- Pre-Christmas reading fun with the beloved book-eater
- Franziska Biermann's style is brisk, clever and very funny!

Franziska Biermann
Mr Fox loves Christmas

80 pages

All rights available

Mr Fox loves books
All rights available

Please contact:

Julia Balogh

Head of Foreign Rights

julia.balogh@ueberreuter.de

Tel: +49-30-6521623-25

