Turn back to be wonderful

Nine hopes for the anthropocene

This STEM* book opens up new perspectives.

How has our planet changed since humans started interfering in natural processes?

How can we ensure that we can all live contentedly on planet Earth? And how can each of us contribute?

The award-winning non-fiction author Melanie Laibl offers nine hopes for the nine most important themes of the Anthropocene epoch:

Soil - Water - Air - Light - Fire - Sound - Plants - Animals - Humans.

*STEM subjects: science, technology, engineering and mathematics.

• An encouraging-book

Nine topics & the influence humans have had on our planet.

The themes are explored in comic format.

Carefully researched factual information creates the foundation for inspiration and discussion.

“Go for it!”: Suggestions, ideas, creativity. How can we all make a real contribution?

“Great ideas!”: sustainable initiatives, that are already planned or being implemented.

“Well done!”: Success stories. Which adverse developments have we been able to turn around?

Our Wonderful Earth!

Nine hopes for the Anthropocene. A book of inspiration

What impact are humans having on the natural world? What damage are we doing? What are we doing well? Where are we heading? Is it time to look for a Planet B or can we turn things around and continue to live on planet Earth?

The Anthropocene is the age of the humans. Find out why everyone is talking about it, the state of the Earth and what we need to do differently in the latest book from award-winning nonfiction author Melanie Laibl. Corinna Jegelka's illustrations are packed with hidden (and engaging) details. Brimming with info, ideas, suggestions, comics, graphics and pictures, this varied book encourages readers to join in and get active.

With the support of the European Climate and Environmental Education Centre and the Forum Anthropocene.

Melanie Laibl is a graduate translator and communications scientist and works in literature, journalism and advertising. Her non-fiction books combine in-depth research, technical knowledge and linguistic flair. The best STEM topic: nature and the natural sciences!

Corinna Jegelka studied art and philosophy at the University of Dortmund and communication design at the University of Applied Sciences Aachen, specialising in film and illustration. Her favourite animal is the panda. Animals and people are motifs that are particularly close to her heart. She lives with her family in Aachen.

Ida and the Magic Mirror

During the night, a magic mirror has appeared on the meadow. All the animals crowd around it and consider their reflections. Squirrel Pippa compares herself with the beautiful Estelle and suddenly feels quite unattractive. Fortunately, there is Ida the hedgehog, who is not bothered by her scruffy appearance in the mirror.

Ida is the coolest critter in the meadow. While the others are all gazing critically into the mirror, she only sees what is most important to her. A new, thought-provoking and witty picture book story with Ida, Pippa and Pronto.

Summer Mouse – Happy Bear

Bear and Mouse want to have a picnic at the pond. Of course, Mouse has to pack a lot of important things. No surprise who has to carry the bag! When Bear and Mouse arrive at the pond, the other animals are already there. The best bear in the world patiently explains why Auntie Cow seems to get smaller and smaller as she swims out and why her hand-knit swimsuit turns out to be a sponge. The thieving ducks, however, brazenly steal cakes and are tracked down by Mouse (almost) all by himself!

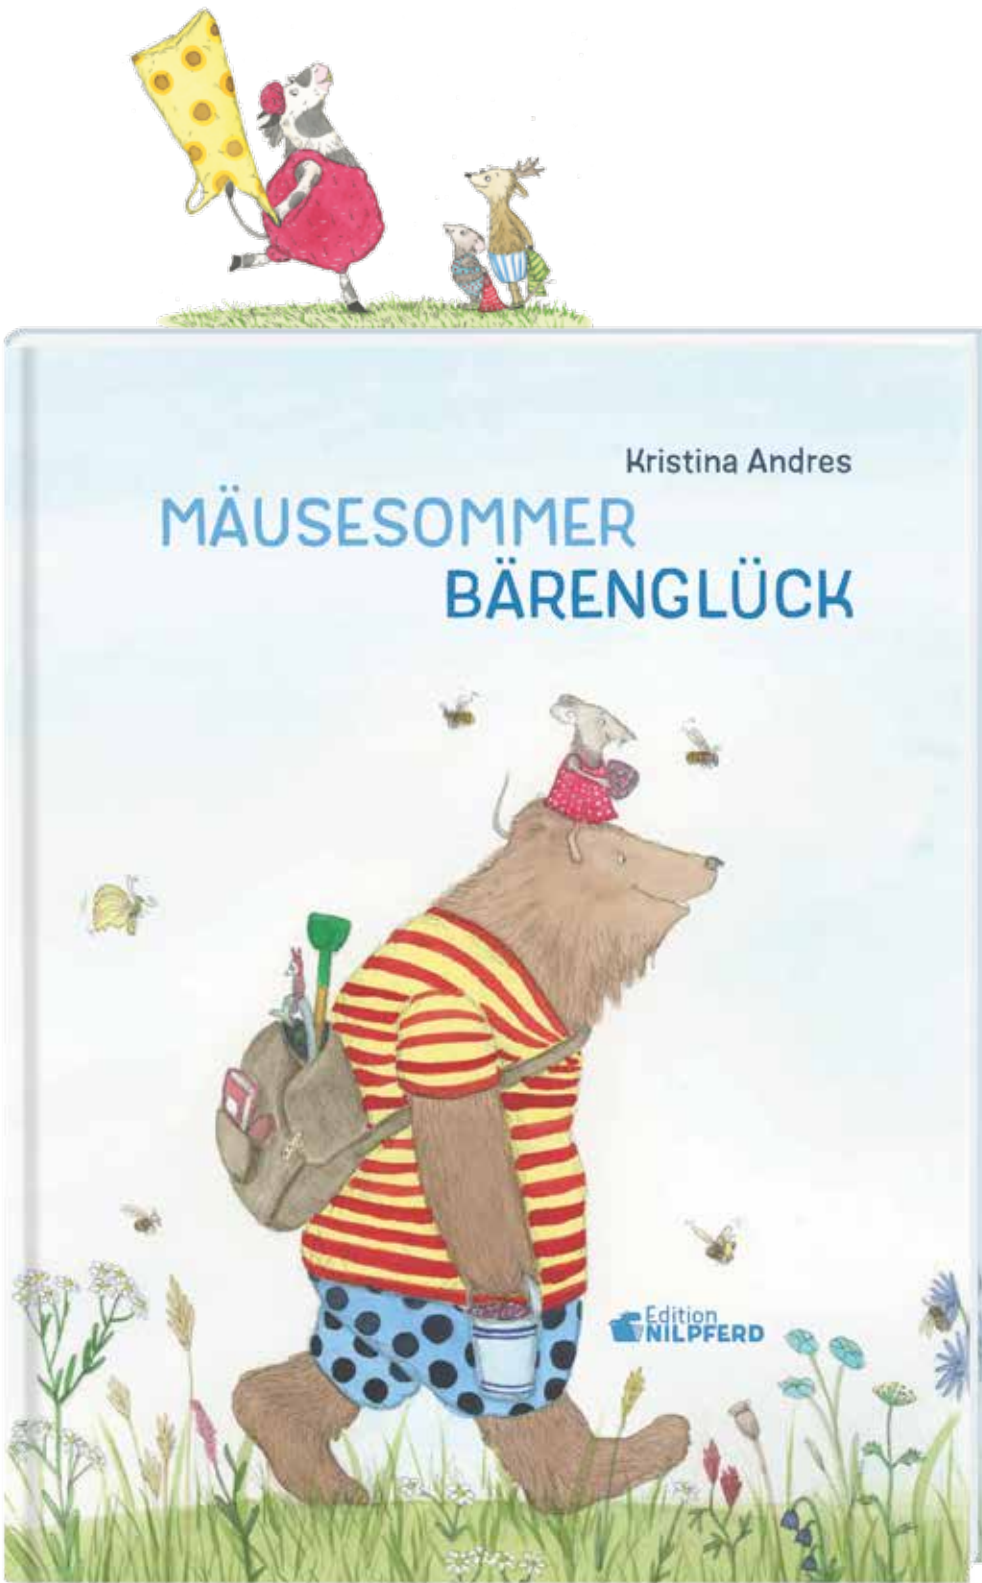

An adorable summer idyll, complete with blackberries, water wings and big questions. When it comes to homeliness and quirky ideas, Bear and Mouse are unbeatable – and always adorable.

»Bear? Why is Auntie Cow getting smaller and smaller?«, asked Mouse. »That's is quite normal when you swim far out ...«
